CHARLEROI WALLOPS CLAIRTON IN A MOST DECISIVE MANNER

Locals Run Up A Score Of 41, While The Visitors
Fail To Register

UNIONTOWN IS NEXT ON LIST

On Saturday afternoon the Clairton High School team took a drubbing at the hands of the Charleroi High School team to the tune of 41-0. The visitors were outclassed from the very start, and, realizing that the locals were their superiors, they made a valiant effort to keep the score as low as possible.

Charleroi kicked, but the visitors lost the ball on their first four downs. An end run by Webster and a few line plunges brought the ball near Clairton's goal line. Then Webster took the ball over for the first touchdown, which was made during the first six and one-half minutes of play. Brown added a point by kicking the ball between the goal posts. Charleroi kicked, and again the Clairton team lost the ball on the first four downs.

In the second quarter Lee made a nice end run and Webster scored the second touchdown. Brown failing to kick. The locals kicked and the visitors made their required ten yards for a first down. In the next four downs they were forced to kick. The ball fell to the ground in Charleroi's territory, but Webster quickly recovered the ball and ran seventy yards for a touchdown. The manner in which he eluded would be tacklers brought forth commendation from many spectators. Another noticeable feature of the run was the fine interference. Brown kicked the ball over for an extra point. Score at end of first half—20-0.

The visitors kicked, and the locals attempted a forward pass. A Clairton player caught the ball, but he was tackled before he could advance very far. The visitors soon lost the ball on downs, and the locals advanced the ball considerably, by a well executed forward pass—Brown to Wagner. Brown plunged through for the fourth touchdown and kicked the ball over for an additional point. In the middle of the last quarter Weaver scored a touchdown and Brown kicked the ball over. The locals then kicked, and the visitors attempted a forward pass, but Wagner caught it and scored the fifth and last touchdown. Final score 41-0.

The entire Charleroi team played a fine game, both offensive and defensive. Their interference was fine and they consummated their plays quickly and smoothly. Morgan and Captain Punjak played a fine game for the visitors at each end of the line, and Kessler did well at quarter.

The return of Weaver to the lineup was welcomed by everyone and his presence was materially felt.

SUES TO RECOVER SUM PAID ON AGREEMENT

A suit to recover $500 hand money alleged to have been paid on two lots in Donora, has been filed by R. M. Ridgley against Yale Smith. The statement of claim sets forth that on June 5, 1920, the parties entered into an oral agreement by which the defendant agreed to sell two lots in Donora to the plaintiff for $6,000. The plaintiff avers that he paid $500 down and was to pay the balance when the defendant delivered him the deed with a marketable title. He claims the defendant is unable to deliver a good title to the land.

AVOID DANGERS FROM DECORATIONS

"Avoid the dangers of Halloween decorations," is a warning issued by the State Bureau of Fire Prevention.

On this occasion it is the general practice to place cloth and tissue paper over electric light globes and fixtures to produce various colors of light, the running of flimsy and inflammable decorating materials across the room and otherwise produce dangerous conditions through the use of lighted candles in rooms where much inflammable material is placed for decorating purposes.

The Bureau cautions the public to be careful in their enjoyment of this season and urges that care be taken that hazardous decorations are not used, and that such decorations as are used be placed so as to avoid becoming ignited through overheating or by open flame light.

ANOTHER NEW ROAD WILL SOON BE ADDED

State Highway route No 118, now being permanently improved between West Newton and Greensburg, will, when completed, be one of the most substantial arteries of travel in this part of the State, as well as one of the fewest grades. The road traverses a most beautiful country and is the connecting link between the industrial region of the Monongahela and Yough valleys and the Greensburg section. It is hoped to have the work on the highway completed some time during the coming year.

Sharp curves and heavy grades have been eliminated as far as possible on this highway, this being done with the double purpose of making the road safe and shorter. In getting through the borough of Madison the engineers met with an obstacle which delayed operations in that immediate sector, namely, opposition of the people of that town to the route finally adopted. However, officials of State Highway Department recently made an inspection of the route proposed, which is much the shorter one, and gave their approval. This will likely settle the controversy and work will proceed on lines laid down by the engineers.

ALLEGED MURDERER IS PLACED IN JAIL

George Artist, the Italian, aged 45 years, wanted for the murder of Grant Robinson, aged 39, which occurred at Millsboro during the early part of the month, was lodged in the Washington county jail, late Sunday afternoon by Constable Lew Vandever of Fredericktown.

Artist had been at liberty since his alleged fatal wounding of Robinson. Officers had conducted an almost continuous search for him, but it was not until Sunday that he was located, having returned to the district temporarily, it is believed.

Robinson was fatally stabbed while in the barber shop of M. D. Wright on Saturday night, October 2. Robinson whose home was in Monongahela, tried to prevent an attack by Artist upon Jacob Neer. Artist had drawn a knife and started after Neer. Robinson stepped between the two men and Artist plunged the knife into his breast. The wounded man was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela on the following day, where he died Tuesday morning, October 5. Apparently it was not thought Robinson had been seriously injured, as the fight was not reported to the authorities. First news of the likely tragedy was received at the district attorney's office from the Monongahela authorities. Artist had then made his escape. At an inquest conducted by Coroner Greenlee at Monongahela, Artist was held responsible for Robinson's death by the jury.

FIGHT FOR PLACE IN BOWLING LEAGUE

The contest for the premier position in the Elks Bowling League grows in fierceness and intensity every day. After two weeks of clever playing the teams are gradually shaping up for the finish. 24 of the games that have been played have been won by small margins, showing that the teams are very evenly matched. Some of the games have been won by two and three pins. Interest in the race is growing right along, and the interest of the players and spectators has grown to great proportions. This week is going to show some hard fighting for the lead, three teams being tied for first place, followed by four others which are tied for second, while three teams are bringing up the rear, but which are making an endeavor to keep out of the cellar position. The standing of the teams after two weeks of playing is as follows:

	W	L	PC
Hoop Poles	4	2	.666
Lunks	4	2	.666
Misfits	2	1	.666
Wahoos	3	3	.500

ENJOYABLE OUTING IN THE MOUNTAIN

A party of young people from this section of the valley spent Saturday in the mountains. Cars were furnished by the Mills and Coatsworth garage of Donora. The weather was ideal and the autumn scenery was at its best. The roads were splendid and no accident marred the pleasure of the day. Few chestnuts were found, but the picnic dinner and supper with camp fires were much enjoyed.

The party included B. Hanlon, H. McMillon, B. Geho, M. E. Gregg and L. Linn of Monessen; D. Park of Donora; and Miss Lorena Williams of Uniontown, Misses Elizabeth Linn and Bertha Leonard of Monessen. Helen Sampson of Donora, and Grace Gelder, Nell Ryland and Edna Long of Charleroi.

Roland Clifford Dietz.

Roland Clifford Dietz, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dietz, died at the family home, 917 Shady avenue, Saturday afternoon, October 23, aged two years. Funeral services were held this afternoon, with interment in Charleroi cemetery.

Conducted by Coroner Greenlee at Monongahela, Artist was held responsible for Robinson's death by the jury.

MANY REPUBLICAN RALLIES ARE PLANNED FOR THIS WEEK

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ACTIVE DURING YEAR

Approximately 320 miles of modern typed roadway were constructed during the present season up to October 19, the state highway department announced on Friday. All records in this state for highway construction were broken during the week ending October 14, when 26.27 miles were put down, it was announced. The highway department has resurfaced approximately 315 miles of macadam road and oiled more than 1,300 miles, it was stated.

TEACHER TRAINING CLASS GRADUATES

Sunday evening, in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, graduation exercises were held for a class in Teacher Training. The church was decorated in the teacher training colors of gold and white. With all the decorations in harmony, the banner across the front of the auditorium stood out in bold relief. Rev. Burson spoke from the text in Colossians 3:16, and suggested that the word should dwell in memory, the imagination, the affections and the will. "It is not enough that we have the Bible as a rich treasure, we are obligated to teach it to others," said the speaker.

A special musical number was given by a quartette composed of Mrs. John Metz, Miss Grace Fleming, John F. Burson and Van Speers, accompanied by Miss Bethel Bowman. The class made a nice appearance as they marched upon the platform to receive their diplomas, led by the ushers chosen from the training classes. Mrs. F. C. Stahlman and Mrs. G. M. Stewart. Miss Etta Work was the teacher of the class, and the following members received their diplomas from the State Sunday School Association: Miss Ella Bake, Miss Emma Parks, Mrs. C. M. Allen, Mrs. W. B. Pfeighardt, Mrs. Edward Bradley, Mrs. C. J. Howard, Mrs. Thomas Kendrick, Mrs. J. E. Campbell and Mrs. I. V. Kinder.

CALIFORNIA WILL PLAY LOCAL HIGH

The Charleroi High School football team has scheduled the California Normal team for a game at the local ball park, for Friday afternoon, November 12. The Normals were to have played here earlier in the season, but were compelled to cancel because of the impossibility of getting a team together. However, they are now ready for games, and have agreed to appear in Charleroi on the above date. The game should prove interesting.

Able Speakers Will Present The Issues Of The Campaign To The Voters

WOMEN ARE BEING ORGANIZED

Chairman C. E. Carothers, of the Republican County Committee, is arranging for a number of meetings to be held at different places throughout the county during the closing week of the political campaign upon which we have just entered. Speakers of ability have been secured and will address these assemblies on the issues of the campaign, and it is anticipated that considerable enthusiasm will be aroused. So far the campaign has been somewhat apathetic, although the people generally have been discussing the issues involved. They have been following the activities of the Presidential candidates and generally speaking have been thoroughly interested in the progress of the campaign.

Plans have thus far been made for meetings at follows: Langloeth, Tuesday evening; Canonsburg, Wednesday evening; California, Thursday evening; Claysville, Thursday evening; Bentleyville, Thursday evening; Monongahela, Friday evening; Donora, Friday evening; Washington, Saturday evening; Burgettstown, Saturday evening.

It is also likely that meetings will be held in Cross Creek Village and at Eighty-Four, although definite arrangements have not yet been completed.

The speakers at the Langloeth meeting Tuesday evening will be Rev. J. T. Bender, Rufus S. Mariner and Mrs. R. W. Taylor. The list of speakers who will take part in the other meetings have not yet been made up, but Mr. Carothers stated Saturday that it would be composed of men and women of prominence and who are well qualified to present the aims and objects of the Republican party and its nominees.

Mrs. J. N. O'Neil chairman of the woman's division of the county committee, has been quite active of late, and has organized the women of many localities throughout the county for effective work on election day. This week she will also be quite busy on this line of work, and before election day the women who expect to support the Republican ticket will be thoroughly organized.

From now until next Monday night the campaign will be pushed with vigor, and all possible means exerted to get out a full vote on the second day of November. If this is accomplished the leaders anticipate an immense Republican vote and majority.

THE POOR AND THE COURTS.

In a land of equal opportunity and justice it is right that the man of means shall procure the best lawyers and secure a new trial in a higher court through his ability to pay the cost of the processes while the man lacking the necessary funds is denied both? This question has been asked more often in recent years than in former times, and in consequence there has been considerable progress in the direction of solving the problem of complete justice for the poor in the courts. The subject was discussed at the recent annual meeting of the American Bar Association, some of the speakers adding new suggestions as well as pointing to the progress already made. In addition to the philanthropy of the Legal Aid Society there are now in some of the states so-called "small claims" courts which meet the need for expeditious and inexpensive handling of petty cases, and many judges are of their own initiative so ordering their work as to come into harmony with this general purpose.

The great need, now widely recognized, is a simplification of court procedure and provision for competent legal advice at small cost. Whether in Federal, State or municipal courts the poor man ought to be able to secure competent legal advice for a very small outlay. Such complete justice for the poor in the courts would do much to check radicalism of the harmful sort and tend to strengthen American institutions through the creation of greater confidence in them. The lack of such full justice, or the incompleteness of the solution of the problem, is no doubt harped on by the incendiary enemies of our government and the preachers of social revolution.

AUTOCRATIC REASONING.

Has anyone stopped to consider the gross inconsistency of President Wilson's assertion respecting the Merchant Marine Act, to wit, that Congress is without power to provide by legislation for the abrogation of treaties which we have entered into with other nations, while Mr. Wilson presumes to abrogate an act of Congress which he has validated by his signature? The U. S. Supreme Court has decided that it is within the power of Congress to direct the Chief Executive to abrogate treaties, especially when those treaties contain a proviso for abrogation after due notice given. The Constitution provides that "this Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land." The La Follette Seaman's law directed the abrogation of certain treaties with foreign nations which were derogatory thereto in language almost precisely that contained in Section 34 of the Jones Merchant Marine Act. President Wilson carried out the directions contained in the La Follette Act and abrogated conflicting treaties. Now he refuses to carry out the directions contained in the Merchant Marine Act saying Congress is without authority to impose the obligation. Again, the Constitution declares that the President "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed," and by his oath of office he is sworn to abide by the mandates of the Constitution. Truly President Wilson is Europe's best ambassador to the United States.

THE CONVICTED MOTHER

The conviction of Mrs. Bergdoll and four co-defendants for conspiracy to aid her sons Grover and Irwin to evade the draft was pretty generally expected, with the possible exception of Mrs. Bergdoll herself. They had made sport of the Department or Justice in a particularly irritating way, stubbornly persisting even after Grover Bergdoll had been finally caught and contriving his escape from prison. The Government's unwavering pursuit of the conspirators even in peace times was inevitable as well as just. The issue of the trial in the lower court in Philadelphia was only what was to be expected in the case of the four co-defendants, but there was doubt as to whether the jury would convict a mother for aiding her own son elude capture and to escape from prison. Even the judge in his charge to the jury remarked that "it is too much to expect any mother to surrender her own son."

Yet all the conspirators were found guilty and there was no recommendation of mercy to the mother, who also will face a term of imprisonment unless a higher court shall rule otherwise. Possibly the jury reasoned that Mrs. Bergdoll's mother love was not of a kind to win consideration. For she loved only her son's bodily safety and cared nothing for his honor or his future as a good citizen. Such mother love as hers is strong even among animals. The true mother will gladly take the risk of seeing her son fall in battle for his country rather than see him disgraced for life and permanently injured as to his moral character by his deliberate choice to play the role of a disloyal coward.

An enterprising member of the President's entourage on his peace pilgrimage to Paris was one Kenneth Durant. He had been employed by the Committee on Public Information as chief of the division of foreign language newspapers, and his work had been so entirely satisfactory to George Creel, his chief that he was recommended and accepted as one of the President's aids. It now appears from a letter intercepted by Canadian authorities that young Durant is an ardent socialist; in fact, it is probable that he is the personal agent of the notorious Martens in his dealings with foreign soviet agencies. After his return from the peace conference it is said that Durant resigned from the Government service and immediately entered the employ of the soviet headquarters in New York. Since that time he has been active in bringing the soviet cause before the American people, and in assisting in the financing of the movement in this country.

George Creel is the man who employed Durant and put him in the place where he could do the most harm to American institutions and best further the interests of the soviet, that is, through the foreign language newspapers. George Creel is also the man recently called to the White House and sent forth among the people as the President's personal emissary in spreading the gospel of the league. Durant's beloved sovietism, as expressed in the internationalism at Moscow, and Creel's and Wilson's beloved internationalism are essentially one and the same thing. It is not necessary to discuss the principles of each to prove the point. It is sufficient that Wilson, Creel, and Durant, and those other social radicals, Steffens, Bullitt, Herron, Minor and the others who infested the Wilson camp, were all in the same boat, and all working their heads off for the precious covenant of the league of nations.

GET BACK ON THE PIKE.

Samuel M. Vauclair, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, at Philadelphia, thinks clearly and talks straight when he discusses present country-wide conditions. "America must get back on the pike; it has been detouring long enough" said he in a speech at Allentown the other day. The situation could not have been expressed in more picturesque terms, and as the head of a great industrial concern Mr. Vauclair speaks with authority.

We all realize in this country that there has been too much zigzagging in our public life and too little common sense in the National administration. This great industrial man insists that the natural order of things is coming around and we must get back on the main road; that America must look out for itself that we have been pretty good to Europe and that the countries there will have to look out for themselves. Now is the time for plain speech by men who out of their experience can direct their countrymen along the right road. Let us get out of the mushy detours and on to the hard pike of American progress which has been too long barricaded by theoretical objections which will be swept away through the action of the people in the exercise of their suffrage within the next few weeks.

A POOR GAME.

The Democrats are playing a poor campaign game. It is conceivable that Cox might have made many votes for himself if he had held back his contribution charges until the last week in October. Now, however, the whole thing has fallen flat against the Democratic ticket. Likewise the report the national committee caused to be put out last week, to the effect that public sentiment is turning toward Cox, was ill-considered. The only effect has been to cause the Republican leaders to put forth redoubled efforts in all districts regarded as doubtful. If the Republicans were over-confident, as the Democrats allege, the Democrats did more, by making public capital of the fact, to set the Republicans straight than could have been accomplished in any tendency toward cocksureness. The result is that every Harding headquarters has been replaced by renewed energy and a determination to make certain victory overwhelming.

OPEN COVENANTS.

The controversy between the President and Senator Spencer reveals that Mr. Wilson has no scruples about publishing the so-called secret proceedings of the peace conference when he considers it to his political advantage to do so. Throughout the league debate in the Senate efforts were made by the Committee on Foreign Relations and by the Senate itself to secure possession of the peace conference records, but whenever Mr. Wilson deigned to reply to the requests of the Senate it was to refuse them. Apparently they would reflect no credit on Mr. Wilson or his administration were the peace records to be made public. Otherwise they would have been given to the world long ago.

ROTTING AND ROTEN.

Once more the Shipping Board has rejected all bids received for the remaining 285 ships of its wooden fleet. Scores of them are now anchored side by side in the James River slowly rotting at their chains. Not one ever made a voyage across the Atlantic. Yet in the spring of 1917 two of the most vital months of the war were frittered away while the President permitted his political henchmen at the head of the Shipping Board to hold up the recommendations of experienced shipping men while he stubbornly insisted on his wooden ship program.

CANONSBURG ABANDONS ARC LIGHT SYSTEM

The new contract made by Canonburg council with the West Penn Power company for the lighting of the streets is for a period of five years dating from January first next. Under the new arrangement the arc system of lighting will be supplanted by incandescent lamps which are said to furnish better illumination. Comparatively few towns today use the arc systems, which is regarded by electricians as virtually obsolete.

MANY HUNTERS IN WESTMORELAND

SCALDED LANDLADY WITH HOT SOUP

Monessen police are looking for a man named Albert Domladovic, who was arrested Saturday evening and later released on a forfeit of $25 for his appearance before the Burgess.

It appears that on Saturday evening Domladovic went to his boarding place at the home of Mrs. Dora Matan, at 242 Twelfth street, Monessen. Supper was being prepared, part of it being on the table and part on the stove. Domladovic appeared to be under the influence of liquor, and apparently was offended that supper was not ready to serve. He picked up a crick, which he smashed over the head of Mrs. Matan, and not being satisfied with this lifted a pot filled with hot soup from the stove and poured the contents over her head and face.

He also tried to scald a daughter of Mrs. Matan with hot milk, which he also took from the stove, but the little girl escaped. Domladovic was arrested shortly after and later released on a forfeit. He then failed to appear for a hearing, but the police are looking for him. Mrs. Matan was badly scalded and her condition is quite serious.

ASKED TO OBSERVE "ROOSEVELT DAY"

County Superintendent L. R. Crumrine urges the school teachers of Washington county to heartily respond to the request of Governor William C. Sprout in observing October 27, birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, as "Roosevelt Day Arbor Day and Bird Day." Governor Sprout in opening his proclamation, said:

"The purpose underlying the establishment of Arbor Day and Bird Day has been the conservation of our forests and the feathered life that inhabits them. It is peculiarly fitting therefore that we should combine these occasions with the memory of that American citizen whose life was so largely and effectively identified with these fields of conservation, Theodore Roosevelt."

After a successful meeting and installation of officers by the Northern Star Sisterhood, Dames of Malta, in Malta Temple last Thursday evening, a recess was declared to congratulate the new officers. The occasion was very delightful and before adjournment refreshments were served.

Mr. Wilson accuses league opponents of gross ignorance. Well, anyhow, it was the cackling of the geese which once saved Rome.

As a comparison our past summer "was never like this" in the way of weather. Do you remember of ever having more perfect October days?

The late Archbishop Benson once had to face criticism of the clergy as a body. It was urged that the bishops ought to see for better candidates were brought to them for ordination. Benson with good humor, replied: "Well you see, we bishops find ourselves in a difficult position as we have only the laity to choose from."—London Morning Post.

Date Interesting to Women.

The first woman's rights convention met at Seneca Falls, N. Y., July 19, 1848, and lasted two days. The leader of the gathering was Lucretia Mott, the Quakeress, and her leading assistant was Elizabeth Cady Stanton. This date is regarded as the greatest anniversary of the woman's suffrage movement in America.

Monkey Glands Lead To New Tonic

Sheep and Cattle Glands New Put Up in Tablet Form Combined With Iron.

The newspapers have reported cases of surgical operations where monkey glands have been transferred to human beings.

It is now further reported that glands substances taken from healthy young sheep and cattle, prepared in tablet form, are being administered in rundown, anaemic conditions requiring building up and where there is evidence of glandular deficiency.

It is claimed in support of this theory that our tiny glands govern the activity and health of the billions of life cells in our bodies. When we are weak, run-down, thin, anaemic, listless it is claimed that our glands are lacking in strength and cannot supply the proper amount of needed help. So what could be more natural than to supply this lack with gland extracts of healthy animals?

The Glandex Company, Inc., 241 W. 29th St., N. Y., supply in the form of a tablet under the name of Glandex Compound, a combination of gland substances with iron and other tonic agents which also help nature restore health and strength.

During the past few months this product has come into quite general use in those sections of the country where its merits as a general tonic have been given publicity. In fact, druggists report that they have never seen a tonic adopted by so many run-down men and women.

So confident are the manufacturers of the merit of Glandex Compound that the druggists are authorized to refund the full purchase price should anyone fail to feel satisfactory benefit after two weeks.

Note: $1,000 will be paid by the Glandex Company, Inc., to anyone proving that Glandex Compound does not contain genuine desiccated gland substance, popularly known as gland extracts, from sheep and cattle.

For Sale by Piper's Pharmacy and by good druggists everywhere.

PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"For the last four years I have doctored off and on without help. I have had pains every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sweep a room without stopping to rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. Three years ago I lost a child, and suffered so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drug store to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and threw the doctor's medicine away. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and using two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, I could do my own housework. If it had not been for my medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it in the house. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other woman."—Mrs. M. A. S. Stevens, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

INVITATIONS ISSUED BY COUNTRY CLUB

Invitations were issued by the Monongahela Valley Country Club last week, for the regular card party on Tuesday afternoon, and in the evening, instead of the usual dinner dance, a card party will be held for both men and women. On Thursday evening, October 28, there will be a Halloween costume dance, without mask. Merrill's Bellhops orchestra of Portsmouth, Ohio, will furnish them music. Masquerade costumes are optional with guests, but all members have been urged to attend the festivities and enjoy the splendid program the committee has prepared.

A "jazz" orchestra under the direction of Fred Lindauer will give a realistic touch to the picture at the Coyle Theater this evening, in which Wallace Reed appears in the "Dancing Fool."

HAIR-PULLING BEE AT THE COYLE THEATRE

Introducing Gloria Swanson and Bebe Daniels, catch-as-catch-can battles extraordinary!

For the benefit of a battery of cameras, these two talented members of Cecil B. DeMille's all-star motion picture company recently staged a battle that will go down in screen history as one of the wildest and most destructive hand-to-hand conflicts ever filmed.

The fight was promoted by Cecil B. DeMille in the interests of his latest Paramount-Artcraft production, "Why Change Your Wife?" which is coming to the Coyle Theatre, Wednesday, October 27, for an engagement of three days. Mr. DeMille acted as referee, timekeeper—and incidentally, director.

Of course, the battle was over a man. The gentleman was Thos. Meighan, and he was about the only person in the studio who did not witness one or more rounds of scrommage. His role required him to slumber peacefully through the series of scenes.

"Why Change Your Wife?" which has been filmed with all the DeMille artistry and eye for beauty was written by William DeMille and scenarized by Sada Cowan and Olga Printzlau.

MAKING PROGRESS ON GIBSON MINE

Work on the new Gibson mine of the Hillman Coal and Coke company, at the northern end of Bentleyville, and just below Weaver is being pushed with great vigor. The shaft is about down to the coal, while many of the outside improvements are nearing completion. The houses erected for the use of the miners to be employed there are of the bungalow type, and differ radically from the well known style of architecture which prevailed along the river near coal workings. The big store building is well under way, and should be completed by the first of the new year. Work has not yet started on the tipples, while track connections with the railroad have not yet been made. When this plant begins operations it will add materially to the industrial activities of the Bentleyville section.

"LANGUID".. THAT IS THE WORD

Not Sick Exactly, Just Seem To Have No Ambition

An Awful Feeling, seldom Necessary

Pepto-Mangan, The Red Blood Builder, Does Away With Languor.

If you don't feel like doing things you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good food which in turn makes rich, red blood.

If your food does not give the nourishment and vigor it should, it is most likely that your blood is so weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build it up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Gude's Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so vitally needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan if take for a few weeks will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells that are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for "Gude's" when you order Pepto-Mangan. For convenience it is prepared in liquid and tablet form both possessing exactly the same medicinal properties. "Gude's" is the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.—Advt.

P. O. S. OF A. HOLDS "AMERICANIZATION" DAY

Donora Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America held "Americanization" services at the First Presbyterian church at Donora on Sunday evening. A number of Camps from different towns in the valley, as well as the Camp from Washington, were present. Prior to attending services a parade was held over the streets of Donora. A large number of members were in attendance.

DIAMOND GEN OF ROMANCE BOTH PARTIES IN GOOD LUCK

Precious Stone, Which Never Dies, Has in All Ages Been Theme of Wonderful Stories.

Diamonds and romance are synonymous terms in history. Some of these crystal baubles, one writer, Gardner Williams, relates, have gleamed weirdly in the eye sockets of idols in Indian temples, or flashed from the splendid thrones of emperors, or glittered in golden basins amid gems of every hue, heaped up in tribute, or sparkled on the crests of warriors, the turbans of rajahs, the breasts of begums and the mantles of courtesans.

To win diamonds temples have been profaned, palaces looted, thrones torn to fragments, princes tortured, women strangled, guests poisoned by their hosts and slaves disemboweled. Some have fallen on battlefields, to be picked up by ignorant freebooters and sold for a few silver coins, and others have been cast into ditches by thieves, or swallowed by guards, or sunk in shipwrecks, or broken to powder in moments of frenzy. No strain of fancy in an Arabian tale has outstripped the marvels of fact in the diamond history.

The diamond never dies. It is the most impenetrable of all known substances. It is the most perfect reflector of light. No acid will mar it; no solvent will dissolve it. Its brilliance is undecaying, and ages might roll by without rubbing the minutest particle from its adamantine face.

HE WAS NEVER THE LOSER

Lawyer's Explanation of Statement That at First Seemed Remarkable, Made It Quite Plain.

A young university graduate, just admitted to the bar, was taken into partnership with an old lawyer who had been highly successful in the practice of his profession, but whose age was fast telling on him. On the first day of the new partnership the old lawyer gave the junior partner quite a lengthy discourse on the ethics, customs, tricks, etc., of the profession.

"And, remember, I never lost a case," he concluded impressively. Imagine, then, the junior partner's surprise when, on the very next day, a telegram came from the Supreme court of the state reversing a decision which had been favorable to the senior partner in the lower courts. The junior partner hesitated somewhat to inquire into the matter, but his youth was irrepressible.

"What's the matter?" he demanded of the old lawyer, "I thought you told me you never lost a case."

"I haven't lost a case," calmly denied the old man. "I was paid a retainer in advance. I never lose a case, but sometimes my clients do!"

English Corn Laws.

The corn laws were a series of enactments dating back to the reign of Edward III, by which England sought to encourage the home production of grain. The levy of a tax on imports, the prohibition of imports, and export duties were among the means of the end. As a rule the taxes varied with the price of home-grown grain. If the price varied from a stated level the tax was increased or decreased automatically. As England grew in importance in manufacturing, and the effect of the laws was to burden the people, agitation for the repeal of the corn laws became more and more insistent, until 1846, when Sir Robert Peel succeeded in having them repealed. Shortly afterward England adopted a policy of practical free trade, realizing that as an exporting nation her trade would be under more favorable conditions.

Wings of Lace.

The wings of the lace wing fly are, as its name implies, very much like lace in appearance. The wings really consist of very fine gauze, much more perfectly made than the finest hand-made lace.

One peculiarity about this fly is that it bangs its eggs up by a fine silk thread, sometimes singly and at other times in bundles, instead of laying them on the branch of a tree or in a hole or corner, as do most other flies.

The eggs are also peculiar in that they change color. When first laid they are green, but just before hatching they become white.

This fly is a great friend and assistant of the gardener, for it attacks the green flies which do so much destruction to currant and other fruit trees.

Agriculture is as far advanced in the United States as in any other country in the world, but thus far there are no farms in this country on which fine specimens of butterflies are raised, according to those interested in the study of these insects. In this respect, England is ahead of this country, for in the county of Kent there is a butterfly farm where produce goes to collectors, choice specimens bringing as much as $50. An average of 500 butterflies a day is raised on the English farm, where 70,000 caterpillars are maturing at the same time.

Self-Effacement.

"Leonidas!" exclaimed Mrs. Meekton, "are you aware that I was reading my essay on politics aloud to you?"

"Yes, my dear."

"But you went to sleep."

"Why not? You removed every problem so completely that I saw no further reason for retaining personal consciousness."

Passengers in Auto and Oddities "Pensive" Alike Went on Their Way Rejoicing.

An unusual sight was witnessed last week on the road to Onset. A party of Brocktonians were anteing to Bournehurst and on the road this side of Onset there suddenly appeared a black and white patch. The machine approached the spot at a fast rate and as it drew nearer the mass straightened out into a line across the road. There was a gasp of astonishment and of dismay, also, for the black-and-white mass proved to be a mother skunk leading four little ones across the street. They were moving very slowly, so slowly indeed that it was impossible to stop the car before it reached them.

Admonitions of "Don't hit them" were not necessary to the driver of the machine, but he was wondering how he was going to miss them. As luck would have it, the mother skunk just then separated herself from the four little ones and the machine passed right over her without harming a hair of the odorous animal.

The passengers, looking back, saw the mother polecat huddled in the road, while her offspring had turned and were streaking it across the highway and over the railway tracks into the friendly bushes. They were right in the path of an approaching trolley car, but negotiated the retreat without a casualty. Probably the unharméd but dazed mother rejoined her little flock later. Had the auto and the skunks met in collision it must have cast a gloom over subsequent proceedings for the car and its cargo.—Brockton Enterprise.

DID SEEM LIKE LAST STRAW

According to Discouraged One There Was About Nothing to Do But "Up and Die."

They were talking of the city government.

"They all work together," one man complained. "First they let the trusts put up the price of coffee and tea till a poor man can't afford to drink 'em any more. Then the milk companies get after us and put milk out of our reach. Then comes prohibition, and we can't buy beer at all. Thought the limit was reached then, didn't you?"

"Sure," said the idle person, "they haven't thought of anything more to do, have they?"

"But haven't they, though?" bitterly replied the discouraged one. "Don't you read the papers? When there's nothing else left to drink but water, this blasted city government suddenly wakes up and raises the price of water. What chance has a poor man to live, anyhow?"

The Time of Heather.

The moors are purple with heather or—more strictly speaking—with ling, for by this time the real bell-heather is pretty nearly over.

Heathers of different kinds inhabit the high moorlands all the world over, in America, Africa and Asia, as well as in Europe. Our own ling may be seen flourishing in Newfoundland and also in New England.

Most people regard heather simply from the aesthetic standpoint, and never give a thought to its varied uses. But every year there is much cutting of heather for the purpose of broom making. Heather again, is an excellent material for thatching purposes, and properly put on a heather thatch will last a century.—John O' London's Weekly.

Which Stone Is Best?

It is strange that, after all these centuries of building and rebuilding, a recent project in London should set on foot a lively controversy as to what really is the stone which best withstands that city's atmosphere. Perhaps a generation hence the answer will be none, says the London Chronicle, and the re-enforced concrete system now on its trial will have established itself. Portland stone has been claimed generally as that city's most useful building stone, but there are doubters now, and the conclusion seems to be that science alone can counteract the ravages of London's atmosphere by artificial coating of exposed faces of the stone.

Soldier Cashed as a Note.

A soldier presented himself at the commonwealth treasury, Melbourne, Australia, and said: "I am a £20 note and want to be cashed." He stated that he had swallowed the note at Fleurbaal when he expected to be captured. He remembered the number, and the note's question turned out to be the only one missing from a particular issue which had been recalled. The man was given a new note.—Central News.

The largest cotton storage in the world are being constructed in England. These accommodate 50,000 bales at one time under ideal conditions. There are all facilities for inspection of the cotton in the best light and also for removing any particular bales regardless of their position in the pile. This is done by a remarkable piece of mechanism recently invented.

Still to Be Considered

"Of course you are in favor of women voting."

"I'm in favor of votes for women," replied Mr. Meekton. "But I expect the decision will rest entirely with them as to whether or not they want the trouble to go to the polls."

Come in and see a New Edison which bears a CERTIFICATE of AUTHENTICITY

signed by Madame Le Fontenay (only 10 of these Official Laboratory Models in our store)

MADAME LE FONTENAY has pronounced them exact duplicates in tonal quality of the instrument used at High School Auditorium and capable of sustaining with absolute success the same test of direct comparison with her living voice. By signing this certificate she declares them equal in every respect, to the instrument which stood beside her Thursday night on the stage at High School Auditorium and amazed all Charleroi.

This was the test made by Madame LeFontenay last Thursday at High School Auditorium.

She sang. Suddenly she ceased to sing, and the New Edison took up the same song alone.

MONESSEN MAY ANNEX OUTSIDE DISTRICTS

Monessen is considering an expansion program, which, if realized, will annex a number of outlying districts which would add materially to the population of the town. The districts considered as available for annexation are East Monessen, Wireton, Dutchtown and Essen, and it is pointed out that it would be to the advantage of these localities to be incorporated within the municipal limits of the larger town.

The program or this annexation was mapped out by the board of trade this year, and it is likely to mature within the next couple of years. The general plan has been discussed, and while there has been some disagreement as to the new boundary lines, there is nothing in the way that cannot be overcome. Should this project be carried through it would give Monessen a population of almost 30,000 people, it is estimated, and with industries sufficient to support a population of 50,000.

On election day Monessen will vote on the project of discarding their borough form of government and accepting the charter of a city of the third class. It is likely the project will carry, in which event Monessen will enter into a new field in the way of local government, and one that will tend to give the municipalities many additional advantages.

MORE GREENE COUNTY

COAL CHANGES HANDS

Deeds covering the sale of four tracts of coal in Greene county and located in Franklin and Whitely townships have been filed for record. Three of these tracts were purchased by J. G. Patterson of Pittsburg, and the fourth by the Greene Improvement company, also of Pittsburg. The recent changes of coal land ownership in Greene county indicates that development of the bituminous field in that section of the state will be progressing quite rapidly in the very near future.

WOMAN TIED AND ROBBERS LOOT HOME

Saturday morning last at 7:30 o'clock, at her home in Axleton, opposite Monongahela, Mrs. Rosie Caparosa was found tied hand and foot to her bed. Mrs. Caparosa had only a few minutes before seen her husband off to his work, when two colored men entered her home and grabbing her used a clothes line in tying her to the bed, where she was discovered as short time later by Mui Sepe, when delivering bread orders. The police were notified after she had been released from her painful position. A box of jewelry and $160 was found missing when a search of the house was made. No trace of the robbers was found.
